Art Unit: 1647

DETAILED ACTION

Status of Application, Amendments and/or Claims

The Remarks submitted 31 January 2007 have been considered. Claims 124, 129-131 and 135-145 are under consideration in the instant application.

Withdrawn Rejections

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101 and 35 USC § 112

The rejection of Claims 124, 129-131 and 135-145 under 35 USC § 101 and 35 USC § 112, for lack of Utility and Enablement is withdrawn based on Applicants' arguments (31 January 2007). New rejections for claims 139-145 are below.

New Rejections

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112, Written Description

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 139-145 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claim limitations are presented to nucleic acids that hybridize to SEQ ID NO: 350 under stringent conditions, as well as host cells and vectors comprising.

The specification teaches a polynucleotide (SEQ ID NO: 350). However, the specification does not teach functional or structural characteristics of all claimed polynucleotides. The description of one polynucleotide encoding a PRO polypeptide (SEQ ID NO: 350) is not adequate written description of an entire genus of polynucleotides.

To provide evidence of possession of a claimed genus, the specification must provide sufficient distinguishing identifying characteristics of the genus. The factors to be considered include disclosure of complete or partial structure, physical and/or chemical properties, functional characteristics, structure/function correlation, methods of making the claimed product, or any combination thereof. In this case, the only factor present in the claim is a recitation of hybridization stringency. There is not even identification of any particular portion of the structure that must be conserved. Accordingly, in the absence of sufficient recitation of distinguishing identifying characteristics, the specification does not provide adequate written description of the claimed genus.

Vas-Cath Inc. v. Mahurkar, 19USPQ2d 1111, clearly states that “applicant must convey with reasonable clarity to those skilled in the art that, as of the filing date sought, he or she was in possession of the invention. The invention is, for purposes of the ‘written description’ inquiry, whatever is now claimed” (See page 1117). The specification does not “clearly allow persons of ordinary skill in the art to recognize that [he or she] invented what is claimed” (See Vas-Cath at page 1116).

Art Unit: 1647

With the exception of the sequence of SEQ ID NO: 350 referred to above, the skilled artisan cannot envision the detailed chemical structure of all claimed polynucleotides and all encompassed PRO polynucleotides, and therefore, would not know how to use them. Conception is not achieved until reduction to practice has occurred, regardless of the complexity or simplicity of the method of making. Adequate written description requires more than a mere statement that it is part of the invention and reference to a potential method of use. The nucleotide itself is required. See Fiers v. Revel, 25 USPQ2d 1601 at 1606 (CAFC 1993) and Amgen Inc. v. Chugai Pharmaceutical Co. Ltd., 18 USPQ2d 1016.

One cannot describe what one has not conceived. See Fiddes v. Baird, 30 USPQ2d 1481 at 1483. In Fiddes, claims directed to mammalian FGF's were found to be unpatentable due to lack of written description for that broad class. The specification provided only the bovine sequence.

Therefore, only an isolated nucleic acid molecule comprising the nucleotide sequence of SEQ ID NO: 350, but not the full breadth of the claims, meets the written description provision of 35 U.S.C. §112, first paragraph. Applicant is reminded that Vas-Cath makes clear that the written description provision of 35 U.S.C. §112 is severable from its enablement provision (see page 1115).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112, second paragraph

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1647

Claim 139-145 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 139-145 are rendered indefinite because of the phrase "is suitable for use as a PCR primer or probe." It cannot be determined what is meant by the phrase, and especially how it limits the nucleic acid fragments recited in the claim. It could be said, for example, that all nucleic acids are suitable for PCR. This rejection can be overcome by supplying specific characteristics of nucleic acids that fit this requirement or by removing the indefinite phrase.

Conclusion

Claims 124, 129-131 and 135-138 are allowable. Claims 139-145 are rejected.
